Abstract
The exception using "innama, ma, illa" in the final third of the glorious Quran.

Khaled Ahmad Mohammad Alnaanah

Mu'tah University,2012

It is an applied, interpretive, and figurative study written to the department of usuul al-din the faculty of shariah at the university of Mu'tah for attaining master degree.

This thesis includes: the introduction, three chaoters, and the conclusion.

The introduction conducts the causes of selecting such topic, its significance, problem, the approach of the study, and previous studies in concern.

The first chapter includes a theoretical generalization of the topic of exception which contains linguistic identifications, conceptual idioms, the difference between " Al-hasr and Al-qasr",the history of emergence, and the parts and ways of exception.

The other chapter include the applied study of the three items of exception "innama, ma illa" in the final third of Quran.

The second chapter is for "innama" which embedded forty-eight points of exception in the final third of Quran. This chapter is classified into three classifications: the characteristics and secrets of the exception using "innama", the exclusion of adjevtive to the described noun, and vise-versa. The third chapter deals with the two items" ma, illa" in final third of the Quran which are stated eighty times. It is devided into three topics: The characteristics and secrets of the exception using " ma, illa", the exclusion of adjective to the described noun and vise-versa.

The conclusion which has the most remarkable outcomes. I have found in this research and my recommendations to learners and searchers of this field.
